POETRY.

THE COMMON SOLDIER.

Nobody cared when he went to the war,
But the woman who cried on his shoulder;
Nobody decked him with immortelles;
He was only a common soldier.

Nobody packed in a dainty trunk.
Folded raiment and officer's fare;
A knapsack held all the new recruit
Might own, or love, or eat, or wear.

Nobody gave him a good-bye lete
With sparkling jest and flowing wine;
Two or three friends on the sidewalk stood
Watching for Jones, the fourth in the line.

Nobody cared how the battle went
With the man who fought till the bullet sped
Through the coat undecked with leaf or star,
On a common soldier left for dead.

The cool rain bathed the fevered wound,
And the kind clouds wept the livelong night:
A pitying lotion Nature gave,
Till help might come with the morning light—

Such help as the knife of the surgeon gives,
Cleaving the gallant arm from the shoulder;
And another name swells the pension list
For the meagre pay of a common soldier.

See, over yonder all day he stands—
An empty sleeve in the soft wind sways,
As he holds his lonely left hand out,
For charity at the crossing ways.

And this is how, with bitter shame,
He begs his bread and hardly lives;
So wearily he eks out the sum
A proud and grateful country gives.

What matter how he served the guns
When plume and sash were over yonder?
What matter though he bore the flag [der.
Through blinding smoke and battle thun-

What matter though a wife and child
Cry softly for that good arm rent?
And wonder why that random shot
To him, their own beloved, was sent.

O patriot hearts, wipe out this stain;
Give jeweled cup and sword no more:
But let no common soldier blush
To own the loyal blue he wore;

Shout long and loud for victory won
By chief and leader staunch and true;
But don't forget the boys who fought—
Shout for the common soldier too.

SELECTED MISCELLANY.

OUR COAL SUPPLY.

We magnify the importance of coal in our country; first, because of its value as a fuel; and, second, because of the vast supply stored here. The first point no longer needs demonstration. Since that day in 1812, when the workmen at White & Hazard's nail works, at the Falls of Schuylkill, left their furnaces in a rage because they could not make the black stones burn, and returned to find that during their absence they had nearly melted down the furnace doors, Anthracite coal has stood without a rival upon earth. Practical as well as analytical tests have failed to find an acceptable substitute. Neither wood, nor peat, nor oil, nor any other substance contain pure carbon in so condensed and cheap a form, says Professor Jevons; and Professor Tyndall adds: "I see no prospect of any substitute being found for coal as a source of motive power. We have, it is true, our winds and streams, and tides; and we have the beams of the sun. But these are common to all the world; we cannot make head against a nation which, in addition to these sources of power, possess the power of coal."

Prof. Tyndall further says: "We should have, in my opinion, no chance whatever in a race with a nation, which, in addition to abundant coal, has energy and intelligence approximately equal to our own,"—a significant admission from an authoritive source.—England must soon yield to America in the great competition of the nations. The strength of both is in their coal mines and in England these have already reached nearly or quite their maximum of production, while our Anthracite is but partially developed, and our Bituminous coals are scarcely touched. The great body of our present coal supply lies within five hundred feet of the surface, while the depth to which English miners are obliged to go is best seen from a statement of their principal shafts:

The Houghton Pit is 780 feet deep. The North Seaton pit is 744 feet in depth. The Reyhope Colliery is 1,680 feet in depth, and the Drunkenfield was sunk to a depth of 2,060 feet at an expense of $500,000 in money and ten years of time, mainly to reach the Black Mine Coal, a bed 4 ft. 8½ inches thick. Compare this with the Hickory shaft, near Pottsville, the deepest working shaft in America. This shaft, which is 666 feet deep, cost $100,000, was sunk in 428 working days, and developed 76 ft of coal.

The English people are now discussing the probable depth to which they can follow their seams. Prof. Jevons shrinks from endorsing the 4,000 feet theory, but stops short at 2,500, and says when they reach that a complete supply of coal will come in from Pennsylvania. We have superior advantages in working our Anthracite coals, from the inclination of the beds and their consequent cropping out on the surface. We find solid coal within twenty to fifty feet of the soil, and sinking our slopes in the coal itself, at cost of not more than $100 per yard, exhaust the first set of coal chambers, and then, sinking one hundred yards deeper, make a new set, and go on until we reach the basin. This is far cheaper and more expeditious than deep shafts which the English are obliged to sink vertically through hard rocks, intercepting all water courses which lie between the strata, and add a very heavy expense for drainage to the dead loss of capital in removing unremunerative material. The great Monkwearmouth pit was only completed after twenty years labor; our energetic Americans sink their slope, build a breaker, but up miners' houses, engines, pumps, etc., in one year, and the next are shipping coal.

A good idea of the extent of our Anthracite resources may be gained from a single illustration. The Mahanoy Valley, in Schuylkill county, Pa., is about twenty miles in length by half a mile in width. In this area there are twenty five collieries, and these will produce, on an average, 2,000,000 tons of coal annually, for the next fifty years. All this from a single synclinal trough containing about one fortieth of our anthracite coal area.

But though Pennsylvania's store of Anthracite will last for many years, and long after it is drawn upon to supply England, it is useless to deny that there is a limit to the supply, and that after a time, it will be exhausted. Then what shall we do?

We shall proceed to open the grand reservoir, the Bituminous coal-fields, compared to which our Anthracite beds are but as a mill-pond to the Gulf of Mexico. With a Bituminous area of 12,000 square miles in Pennsylvania, and 197,000 in the United States, we can supply the world with fuel for ages to come.

And after the Bituminous, what? Brown coal—Lignite—that queer, woody-looking mineral, little known as yet, but already beginning to be used, and destined to play an important part in the world's great drama, long ages hence. With this as with the other coals, America is still the favored land. It is found from Behring's Straits to Salt Lake City, and again, in Tehuantepec, Panama, Peru, and from Chili to Patagonia. But it also occurs in many other parts of the earth. It stretches in almost a continuous belt across half the world, from France to Van Dieman's Land, Sumatra, Borneo, and probably in many other countries where the bowels of the earth have not yet been explored.

So we shall not lack for fuel very soon. The main point, however, is that Pennsylvania holds the key to these vast store houses of fuel and consequently to the workshops of the world. Her supreme command of the world's supply of Anthracite, and her rich deposits of iron, give her prestige which she will never lose.—Coal Trade Circular.

OF THE DYING.

With Captain Knowles and the loss of the Northfleet for the text, the New York Tribune preaches this brief but moving sermon on heroic dying:

There is much said nowadays of the corruption of society; when our political leaders take bribes we are told that chicanery and money and love of sham show control the majority of lives; yet sometimes death, from among us, takes some commonplace fellow like this ship's captain by the throat and bids him justify his right to have lived; and the man takes his footing upon his plain daily duty, and doing that, chooses so to be lost in the eternal silence. But how the whole world is stirred as he goes out. How in every country in the last fortnight men's hearts have beaten higher, and the tears come to women's eyes looking at the figure of this Knowles on his sinking ship; how we had listened to hear his last words before the sea covered him; to know something more of the man. Cleopatra puts on her crown to make a tragic ending. "What's brave, what's noble, let's do it after the high Roman fashion, and make death proud to take us!" "The captain was the only quiet man aboad," said one of the survivors; "he was about thirty years old, and had been married six months. He kept the crew back with a pistol in one hand from the boats, and helped the women and children in with the other. Some called him to tie himself to a spar, but he went on lifting in the women. He gave his wife to the boatswain in one of the boats. "Take care of her, bosen,' he said; 'I will never see you again, dear girl.' Mrs Knowles was a little thing, very much of a child. She wanted to go back to deck and die with her husband, but we held her."

While we look through the night at the ship going down with this man at his post on her, other remembrances come back to us, of Robert Shaw, 'buried in a pit with his niggers;" of the engineer Kearly lying dead at the bottom of the river, and the train he had saved at the other side; and, dearer than all, of another ship that sank in the British channel not many years ago. There was part of an infantry regiment on board, returning after a five years' absence, from India. When it was found that the vessel was sinking, and that the boats were insufficient to hold the women and children, the colonel, to prevent confusion, marshaled his men on deck. They obeyed, and presented arms. And so, almost within sight of the home they had not seen for five years, foot to foot and shoulder to shoulder, silent and immovable, as though ready to charge upon the foe, they went down."

There are men whose lives are clad with great deeds or words as with royal garment; but these were homely and commonplace, doing the task of every day, after no high Roman fashion, but quietly and steadily. Attempting and achieving no more than this they passed through the great dark portal which never opens twice for any man, but when it has closed behind them it seems to us as though a king had gone out from among us.

PRACTICAL EDUCATION

Agesilaus, king of Sparta, being asked what boys should learn, replied, "Those things which they are to practice when they become men."

The Spartan king was right, and the modern idea of the education of youth is in a great measure wrong. Practical matters, instead of being made cardinal points, are too often treated as subsidiary to branches of more elegance than utility, and, at best, of doubtful value. According to the prevalent idea of education, a thorough knowledge of the Latin and Greek is imperative, and very often pupils are found tolerably well versed in the Greek grammar, while they are totally oblivious to the English. I have known students who were quite proficient in classical studies, yet who were unable to compose correctly a dozen lines of their own language I am not insensible to either the value, or the beauties of the classic authors: but they should always be subordinate in the course of study pursued by young men of moderate means. A solid basis of practical English studies should first be obtained, and if one can afford the time and money, the study of classical literature may afterward be pursued with pleasure and profit.

There is too often, in education as in other things, a disposition to sacrifice utility to ornament, neglecting practical studies, and devoting time and expense to the acquisition of meretricious and idle accomplishments. The desire for "fact" need not be carried to such an extent as in the case of Mr. Gradgrind, but he was not so far wrong, after all, only he did as enthusiasts usually do. "Teach the child rea fact," says Mr. Gradgrind, and I echo the sentiment. Yet, the ideal and the beautiful need not, and should not, be excluded. Only let facts come first, fancies afterward.

OHIO STATE WOMAN SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION.

The third annual convention of the Ohio State Woman Suffrage Association was held in Wheeler's Opera House, Toledo, February 18th and 19th. The attendance was large and enthusiastic and a continually increasing interest displayed. Speeches were made by Mrs. H. M. Tracy Cutler, Susan B. Anthony, Mrs. M. V. Longley, Mrs. Miriam M. Cole and other prominent woman suffrage advocates. The women mean work, prompt and energetic, as indicated by the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted. Measures are already being taken to carry out these resolutions and an active canvass may be looked for:

Resolved, That the right to vote is a personal right, inherent in every citizen, and not a privilege to be conferred or withheld at the pleasure of the majority, and that any abridgment of this right is tyranny.

Resolved, That the present, immediate work of this Association, shall be to bring an influence to bear upon the selection of delegates to the coming Constitutional Convention, and upon that body when assembled, to induce it to take steps for the removal from the organic law of the state of that despotic provision which now denies the ballot to its female citizens, and that we will use all proper and legal means for this purpose, accepting with gratitude, any sympathy or aid given us by any person, class or party.

Resolved, That if the male citizens of the state, after a full and fair presentation of the case, shall deliberately insert in the new constitution, a provision abridging the rights of the female citizens, such act will put the stamp of liberate tyranny upon the new government.

Resolved, That while we do not identify ourselves with any political party, we would make greatful mention of the hearty recognition which we have received from the prohibition party, and also return our thanks for the respectful consideration promised us by the republican party.

A SCOTCH PRAYER.

"God bless this house and all within twa miles ilka side this house. O bless the cow, and the meal, and the kail-yard, and the muckle toun o' Dumbarton. O God! bless the Scotch Greys that are in lien' in Hamilton barracks. They are brave chiefs—they are not the English whalps that dash their foot aginst a stone, and damn the soul o' the stone—as if a stone had a soul to be saved. O put a strong dyke between us and the wild Irish. O, Lord, preserve us fra' witches and warlocks, and a' lang nebbet beasties that gang through the heather. O Lord! put a pair o' branks about the king o' France's neck—gie me the halter in my ain hand, that I may lead him about when I like, for thy name's sake—Amen!"

TRAINING THE HORSE.

There is probably no one thing that more people are conceited about than the matter of handling horses.

One lady friend will tell us she can drive a horse, for while she was out in the country the past summer, she drove the hay cart to the field twice!

Pat can drive, for he 'follid a horse in the ould country about five years.'

Old John can surely drive, for he was brought up among horses.

John Bull knows all about 'orses for he has seen the 'big uns in Liverpool,' while Snob has proved his skill, by passing every one on the Brighton and Bloomingdale roads; time 2 80. But a majority of the self sufficient ones, would come nearer the truth to use the language of poor Pat, who on being questioned as to his ability, replied "Yess faith, I can drive him jest wherever he has a mind to go."

I venture the assertion, that not twenty five per cent of the men constantly entrusted with the management of horses, are capable of it; and as a consequence we have but few horses properly trained for ordinary purposes, and I hold that it is more owing to the natural intelligence of the animal than to the judgement and care of the driver, that serious accidents are not more frequent.

How few horses comparatively can be trusted out of reach, or left unhitched for a moment? How few will stand for persons to get in or out of the carriage, or can be drove within twenty rods of a locomotive, or other suspicious objects, with safety?

How many are unreliable not to say entirely unmanageable, in case any part of the harness or carriage gives way on the road?

How many horses perfectly able to draw a ton any where, can not be relied on to try a second time on a half the weight, in a bad spot? How many will not back an empty wagon; and all these faults are often owing to the stupidity and negligence of the driver, rather than to any particular trait of the horse's disposition?

My idea of a properly trained horse is one that will lead without straightening the halter, stand quietly to be cleaned or harnessed, wait for the whole family to get into the carriage, start off gently on a loose rein with the mercury at zero, stop at the word under almost any circumstances, stand unhitched for a moment at least, almost anywhere, One that can be safely driven as near as is ever necessary, to a locomotive or any other suspicious object, and be relied on to do his best to draw or back a load in any spot, as often is necessary.

"O!" says Stupid, "I have as good a horse as any man, but, I can not make him do all that." My reply to such, is if you have got a good horse and can not make him do all that, you have no business with him; it's oftener won't than can't in this matter.

I know there are many horses, proof against the best endeavors of good trainers, and the sooner such are consigned to the bone yard the better.

A NEW FEATURE OF COUNTRY JOURNALISM.—A Montpelier paper introduces a novel feature, in a column devoted to its delinquent subscribers, who are served up as 'black list customers. The way these fellows are pitched in to is something audacious: "George H. Carter had the paper at Chester, and the last we knew of him he was in jail at Rutland, 'for using other people's money.' A man who would cheat the printer will not be above any kind of stealing, in our judgment. Elisha Slayton, whom Calais disowned and Woodbury was ashamed of, has not paid us yet. Hope his new-found religion has not left him, but we do not think a religion worth much that does not lead a man to do works meet for repentance. Lyman Hinkson has not had a shot from us for some time, and we have not learned that he has given up his audacious lying, or become a more decent man, in any respect." After more of the same sort a parting salute is fired in this wise: "These are not all who should appear in the list, this week, but it is as far as we shall go just now. Very soon another installment is coming, so hurry up, if you would get under shelter before the storm bursts over your heads."

The coppermining in Lake Superior region was prosecuted in ancient times is evident from the tools and other traces of human agency found in the old pits and half obliterated excavations yet abounding on the shores of the lake, as well as on Isle Royal. Recent discoveries of these tools have been found on the island, which, according to the Marquette Journal are of workmanship, formed of copper, with a temper and hardness scarcely excelled by the best steel tools of today. They are simply chisels in the ordinary form, with hammers of copper, and huge granite mallets. Charcoal is also found in abandoned pits which seems to indicate that fire was used to assist in the mining or metallurgical opperations of that, remote period. If these so-called copper tools are found as plentifully as the Journal says, it would be well to have an analysis made of the metal, to see what it is which imparts to copper the 'hardness and temper scarcely excelled by the best steel.'

DRIVING HENS.

When a woman has a hen to drive into a coop she takes hold of her hoops with both hands, and shakes them quietly toward the delinquent, and says, "Shew, there." The hen takes one look at the object to convince herself that it is a woman, and then stalks majestically into the coop in perfect disgust of the sex. A man don't do that way. He goes out of doors and says, "It's singular nobody in the house can drive a hen but myself," and picking up a stick of wood, hurls it at the offending biped, and observes, "Get in there, you thief." The hen immediately loses her reason, and dashes to the opposite end of the yard. The man straightway after her. She comes back again with her head down, her wings out, and followed by an assortment of stove wood, fruit cans and clinkers, with a much puffing and very mad man in the rear. Then she skims up on the stoop, and under the barn, and over a fence or two, and around the house, and back again to the coop, all the while talking as only an excited hen can talk, and all the while followed by things convenient for handling, and by a man whose coat is on a sawbuck, and whose hat is on the ground, and whose perspiration and profanity appears to have no limit. By this time the other hens have come out to take a hand in the debate, and help dodge the missiles—and then the man says that every hen on the place shall be sold in the morning, and puts on his things and goes down street, and the woman dons her hoops, and has every one of those hens housed and contented in two minutes, and the only sound heard on the premises is the hammering by the oldest boy, as he mends the broken pickets.—Danbury News.

A VERY CANDID MAN.

The Sunday Herald (Indianapolis) relates the following:

A rather good thing—we don't vouch for it's truth, however—is told at the expense of an estimable citizen of Bartholmew county, whose only fault is to tarry longer than is sanitary at the wine when it moveth itself aright. Notwithstanding this infirmity, Joe is held in high esteem by the neighbors, who honor him for his truthfulness, industry, candor, and many other manly virtues. One night, during a protracted meeting, Joe straggled into the neighborhood church, a little drunker than anybody had ever seen him before and came to an anchor among a head of unregenerate goats on the back seats. The heat of the room and the fumes of the liquor, induced a gentle somnolence, half sleeping and half waking, during which he heard but heeded not the earnest words of the preacher. Finally, however, the inquiry, "Where now is the drunkard?" propounded in a little louder tone, thoroughly aroused our fuddled friend, and he promptly responded, in equally clear tones, "Here I am!"

The preacher was disconcerted. "I was not alluding to you personally, Mr. H.," he explained. "The remark was general." "Yer 'pology's 'cepted," replied Joe grandly, and the preacher continued. After a few minutes he said: "Where, now, is the hypocrite?" This again aroused Joe. "There he is, over there!" he replied, pointing his finger. "Tom Peasley, why don't you answer when your name is called?" That was too much, and Joe was snaked out by two deacons. As he was going out he was heard to mutter: "I never go back on nothin' I don't. But there's that Tom Peasley; hain't he got cheek?"

I'VE GOT MAD.

The Detroit Free Press relates an incident which occurred on the return of an excursion party from that city. Soon after the boat left Toledo the steward was approached by an excited individual, who asked him if he was the captain. The steward replied in the negative, at the same time giving his rank.

"Have you the power to put a man out of the cabin?" inquired the stranger.

"Well, yes, if he's disorderly, I have," replied the steward.

"Well, sir, look in here and see them, will you?" said the stranger, leading said official round to the door.

The steward looked upon the motley group and replied that he saw nothing out of the way.

"You don't, eh? Don't you see a man in there embracing a woman?"

"Well, yes," replied the steward, "but what of that? Hasn't a fellow a right to embrace his wife?"

"That's what I want you to run him out for," replied the stranger, dancing around; "that's my wife, and I've stood it so long that I've got mad!"

JEFFERSON'S EXAMPLE.

Thomas Jefferson has evidently gone out of fashion with the men now in public life. In regard to money making schemes and invested interests, likely to affect his judgment and his official votes, the distinguished statesman wrote: "When I first entered on the stage of public life, I came to a resolution never to engage in any kind of enterprise for the improvement of my fortune, nor to wear any other character than that of a farmer. I have never departed from it in a single instance, and I have in multiplied instances found my self happy in being able to decide and to act as a public servant, clear of all interests, in the multiform questions that have arisen wherein I have seen others embarrassed and biased by having got themselves into a more interested situation. Thus I have got myself richer in contentment than I should have been with any increase of fortune."

A widow who has married and lost five husbands, remarks that: "Widowers never die of grief. Though crushed to the earth by their sorrow, like truth, they rise again re-wived."

Massillon, Wednesday, March, 5.

VALEDICTORY.

At the solicitation of two as good friends as any man need have—but who would not wish to have their names placed before the public in this case—I was induced to come to Massillon, in February, 1863. Our reading public here need not be informed of the ups and downs of newspaper efforts of different adventurers in this city. I found Massillon—a city so called—without a newspaper—and also found the dilapidated remains of an office, consisting of quantities of old type, much of it in the shape of pi, and enough rubbish to cover much of the floor a foot deep in many places. I quietly went to work, cleaned up things a little, assorted the old types, doing a little job work as called for: and while this was going on many of our citizens seemed solicitous that a paper be commenced. So on or near the first of that memorable July (1863), which marked the greatest events of the terrible war than waging, the first number of the INDEPENDENT made its appearance.

I was induced to go into the enterprise with my friend, Mr. PETER WELKER, who has been a steady and faithful friend during the ten years of our business associations; and to him I attribute the financial success of the paper thus far, by his assiduous attention to the interests of the INDEPENDENT.

Ten years nearly have elapsed since we began the paper, and during that period its issues have been continuous; and although we are amply surrounded with papers of all classes, from far and near, we can claim that the patronage of the INDEPENDENT, in the way of subscription, advertising and job work has been such as to justify its continuance, and that too with a fair share of newspaper prosperity. It may with truth be recorded that of all the numerous like enterprises in this city, none has preceded this which continued per haps over half a decade.

I am not insensible to the shortcomings and errors with which the history of this paper has been accompanied, but the aim has been to render it worthy of the support of our citizens; and I am sure that a spirit of forgiveness will be extended for these lapses, which are more or less incident to all human efforts. I have endeavored with what seemed becoming meekness to prepare and select such matter for the reader as seemed useful and had an elevating moral as well as intellectual tendency. Having decided preference always for advancement toward improvement in all departments of society, I have not failed to manifest that sympathy for the cause of temperance, the equality of all, without destinction of race or sex before the law, and the moral progress of every member of society. But enough of this.

Having now accomplished almost five decades among the types and presses of printing offices, I am admonished by the wearing years, especially when nearing the three score and ten allotted to man, and sensibly feeling the pressure of the hand of Time, feel that it is necessary to retire into a less active life.

My association with the citizens of Massillon has ever been of the most pleasant character, and while life lasts I shall not forget the ten very agreeable years it has been my fortune to live here.

To my successors in business—for Mr. WELKER continues his connection with the paper—and to Mr. CHARLES E. TAYLOR, who will hereafter control the columns of the INDEPENDENT as editor, I cordially commend the good will and sympathies of the numerous friends who have so faithfully stood by the paper during its existence. Possessing the requisite qualifications I can confidently commend Mr. T. as one well qualified to fill the responsible place which has been assigned him. I hope our friends will stand by the new firm, as they have long stood by their predecessors, for experience and observation will but develop the fact that Mr. T. will prove worthy of this new and trying place.

While matters of general interest more or less engrossed my attention in conducting the paper, the principal aim was to render it, as far as possible an indispensable medium through which the interests, welfare, improvement and prosperity of Massillon was the leading object to be attained. And during the last ten years the city has been greatly improved in many respects, and everything bids fair to increase the spirit of development in the way of manufactures and other channels of enterprise. It is not arrogance to assume that the INDEPENDENT has at least played a part in thus aiding to make the place what every true [illegible] it should be. Indeed, it should be the chief end of every local paper to do the best it can for the community which sustains and patronizes it.

So much comes up in this connection that it is difficult for me to decide on what to say, and what to not say, that I feel embarrassed in choosing fitting sentences in which to express a few last words, and for this reason it occurs to me it is time to say, Good bye!

JOHN FROST.

SALUTATORY.

Having purchased the interest of Mr. FROST in the printing and publication business of this office, with the present issue we make our bow to the public as editor of the INDEPENDENT. In assuming the management and control of a newspaper, we are well aware that we take upon ourself no light and trifling duty, but rather one of importance and responsibility; for it is to the papers of a town or city, more than to any thing else, that the outside world looks for a knowledge of the business and moral standing of the community from among whom it comes. But, with a full conviction of the responsibilities of our position, we shall endeavor to conduct the INDEPENDENT so as to best promote the interests and welfare of the place and people among whom our lot is cast. We shall endeavor to keep this paper, in the future—as our predecessor has done in the past—in the van-guard of progress, and make it a welcome visitor at the homes and firesides of all.

Asking the kind indulgence of the public, we are, Respectfully,

C. E. TAYLOR.

ANOTHER FIRE IN BOSTON.—Boston has again been scourged by fire. This time she has suffered most severely in loss of life. While her brave firemen were gallantly endeavoring to check the flames, which threatened an extensive conflagration, a thin, weak wall, against which their ladders were placed, tottered and fell, precipitating several members of the department into the blazing ruins, where they were crushed and burned. Three are named as already dead. As many are missing. Several are reported probably fatally injured, and the balance, making about twenty, fortunately but slightly harmed. This disaster will call forth universal sympathy for the sufferers, and sorrow for those whom it has carried beyond the reach of earthly sympathy.

While it is sincerely to be hoped that success may crown the efforts which are being made on the part of the leading minds of Spain to establish a Republic, it is quite evident that their pathway is to be hedged about with difficulties of no common order. Already the partisan influences which crippled the policy of Amadeus are beginning to make themselves felt. What with the claims of the Carlists on the one hand, and the attempts of party leaders to secure personal aggrandizement on the other, the new government will have many dangerous obstacles to surmount before the civil and ecclesiastical enfranchisement of the country is accomplished. "Hands off" among the monarchists of Europe. Let the newest born among the peoples have fair play.

In the liquorite state convention, which took place at Columbus lately, it is said they refused to let reporters go in and make a note of their doings for publication. Nothing strange about that. When men engage in a purely selfish, mean business it is not expected they will want their doings exposed to the world. We notice that Massillon had the honor (?) of being represented— don't know who the delegate was. It somehow has leaked out that the purport of their doings was to the effect that the liquor interest will do all it can to control the constitutional convention in that behalf, make it so they can get license, and rule out all temperance laws. They will have a good time carrying such points. Let them try it on.

The friends of local option—that is, those who favor the policy of the people voting on the question of selling intoxicating drinks in any locality—appointed a meeting for business the other day at Pittsburg, were baffled in their efforts by a mob of liquorites who claimed to have the majority. Rather than resort to violence to assert their just rights the temperance people quietly and wisely removed to another place, where they were undisturbed, and there transacted the business they designed. Such movements by the enemies of sobriety, decency and good order only tends to destroy themselves, and helps their opposers. Abolitionists passed through many such trials, yet they came off more than conquerors, and so will it be again.

That fascinating shovel maker, the Hon. Oakes Ames, now starts on his newspaper travles as the Knave of Spades.

The Inauguration of President Grant's second term took place yesterday, (March 4th) and is the twenty-third ceremonial of that kind which has transpired in the history of our government, beginning in 1788. Thus far we have no particulars as to what was done, or how it terminated, but from the great preparations made, no doubt the occasion was one of no ordinary interest. Thousands were expected to be present, and all parts of the country were represented by visitors. A number of our citizens were among the congregated thousands—we know not how many of them witnessed the august ceremony—but a fair representation was on hand. Full accounts will be given in the daily papers, and to those desiring full particulars we refer to that source.

In his speech defending Oakes Ames, last Wednesday night, Gen. Butler expressed his thankfulness that he was a man whom God had made—not the newspapers. Gen. Butler may not have been made by the newspapers; but that he has tried his hand at making newspapers—with a success almost as indifferent as attended his own manufacture—the lifeless and costly remains of at least one defunct New-York journal mournfully attest.

A NEW CONFIDENCE GAME.—A well dressed young man stopping at a Vermont hotel last week for a few days, made acquaintances. The evening of the second day of his arrival a nice young lady came along unattended, and instantly attracted the attention of the impressible youngster, who canvassed her charms freely as he sat apart from her at supper. The stranger youth even went so far as to say that he would marry her if she would have him, and offered, for a substantial wager, to pop the question and have the marriage ceremony performed right away. The wager was accepted, and also the proposal of marriage, made so suddenly to her by the young man, and the parson called in, who soon united the twain. The sum wagered was paid over to the happy bridgroom, and he and his bride set off next day on their marriage tour. What lends romance to the circumstance is the fact that the young couple had already been man and wife for a year.

FARMERS' UNIONS AND THE RAILROADS.—There are said to be over a thousand lodges of Farmers' Unions in the two States of Iowa and Minnesota. The organization is designed to make war upon the overreaching propensities of railroad companies, and to consolidate freight in quantities, which will materially reduce the rates of shipment The contest between the people of the West and the railroad combinations against their interests, is becoming formidable in proportions, and must result disastrously for railroad companies, for the people in this country are the controlling power. The people of the West have got very far away from market, and the lowest possible rates of transpertation are exceedingly burdensome, which makes them very sensitive to even the slightest semblance of extortionate charges. The expense of constructing and keeping up railroads durthe past year has been unusually great, in consequence of the high price of iron, but there is little reason to doubt that charges have been unreasonable, in many instances, and well calculated to exasperate the people.

The senate on Wednesday passed the house bill to carry into effect the fisheries articles of the Washington Treaty. So this important matter is disposed of, and the last remaining cause of irritation between Great Britain and the United States is removed. England and the Dominion have passed the necessary legislation, and it only remains to promulgate the special regulations under which the new order of reciprocity in the fishery and inland transportation is to be conducted.

While the House on Friday was voting on the question of withholding payments to the Union Pacific railroad to offset interest due the government and unpaid, the question was raised as to the right of members to vote on matters in which they are personally interested. The vote of Mr. Hooper, of Massachusetts, was challenged on this ground, and speaker Blaine pronounced the following decision on this important question. He said:

"As a matter of parliamentary law, it was laid down in the rules, that where the interest is direct, a member has no right to vote. In this case, if the gentleman from Massachusetts, (Hooper) was a stockholder in the railroad, the Chair would rule that he had no right to vote. The difference between this case and that of a stockholder in a national bank was, that the latter was a general interest, held by all classes of people. The chair would hold that no point could be made on a stockholder in a national bank voting on a question relating to national banks, but if a stockholder in a single company, as in this case, had his vote challenged, it would be the duty of the Chair to hold, if we were an actual stockholder, that he had no right to vote."

We agree with Mr. Randall, who, when the speaker had concluded exclaimed, "That decision does you honor!" Mr. Hooper admitted that he was interested in the Pacific road, and said he did not wish nor intend to vote. This is a good beginning, and it is time this ruling of the Speaker was enforced on all occasions.—Cleveland Leader.

The Secretary of the Treasury has given notice that the principal and accrued interest of forty-five millions of the five-twenty coupon bonds known as the second and third series, issued under the act of February 25, 1862, dated May 1, 1862, and five millions of registered bonds of same date, will be paid at the United States Treasury on and after the first of next June, and that interest will cease from that day. The numbers and designations of the bonds are given in the notice. The government does not pay a premium in redeeming its called bonds. It pays only the face, but as it pays in gold, the holders get the market premium on the coin, which is now nearly equal to the advance in the price of the bonds above par.

Alexander H. Stephens, ex-vice president of the Southern Confederacy, was elected to congress from the eighth Georgia district on Wednesday. There was no opposition. The election was to fill a vacancy. The circumstance is significant. The return of Mr. Stephens to the house after the events in which he bore so conspicuous a part, shows more impressively than any "clasping hands across the bloody chasm" of the war, that the north and south are one, and that "reconciliation" has been effected, even without universal amnesty. The amnesty of the ex-vice president of the confederacy in congress is about all the thing will bear.

All do not know that lemons sprinkled with loaf sugar almost completely allay feverish thirst. They are invaluable in the sick room. Invalids affected with feverishness can safely consume two or three lemons a day. A lemon or two thus taken at tea time is recommended as an entire substitute for the ordinary supper of summer, and will often induce, a comfortable sleep in the night, and give a good appetite for breakfast.

Ohio has a patriotic Legislature. Three of the members of the House were born on Washington's birth-day. The simple statement of this fact was sufficient to secure the adoption of a motion to adjourn over Saturday, although it does not appear that any member was patriotic enough to refuse to draw the public pay on account of this adjournment.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN JURUBEBA BLOOD PURIFIER

is unequaled by any known remedy. It will eradiate, extirpate and thoroughly destroy all poisonous substances in the Blood and will effectually dispel all predisposition to bilious derangement.

Is there want of action in your liver and spleen? Unless relieved at once, the blood becomes impure by deleterious secretions producing scrofulous or skin diseases, felons, blotches, pustules, canker, &c.

Have you a dyspeptic stomach? Unless digestion is promptly aided the system is debilitated with loss of vital force, poverty of the blood, dropsical tendency, general weakness or lassitude.

Have you weakness of the intestines? You are in danger of chronic diarrhoea or the dreadful inflammation of the bowels.

Have you weakness of the Uterine or urinary organs? You must procure instantly relief or you are liable to suffering worse than death.

Are you dejected, drowsy, dull, sluggish or depressed in spirits, with head ache, back ache, coated tongue and bad tasting mouth?

For a certain remedy for all of these diseases, weaknesses and troubles; for cleansing and purifying the vitiated blood and imparting vigor to all the vital forces; for building up and restoring the weakened constitution, use which is pronounced by the leading medical authorities of London and Paris "the most powerful tonic and alternative known to the medical world." This is no new and untried discovery but has been long used by the leading physicians of other countries with wonderful remedial results.

Don't weaken and impair the digestive organs by cathartics and physics, they give only temporary relief—Indigestion, flatulency and dyspepsia with piles and kindred diseases are sure to follow their use.

Keep the blood pure and health is assured.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL PURELY DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA EUREKA VINEGAR BITTERS

Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whisky, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the Great Blood Purifier and a Life-giving Principle, a Perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition, enriching it, refreshing and invigorating both mind and body. They are easy of administration, prompt in their action, certain in their results, safe and reliable in all forms of Disease.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist: There is scarcely an individual on the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Typesetters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS twice a week.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the Valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc., etc. In these as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters act on all these cases in a similar manner. By purifying the Blood they remove the cause, and by resolving away the effects of the inflammation (the tubercular deposits) the affected parts receive health, and a permanent cure is effected.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

The Aperient and Mild Laxative properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are the best safe-guard in cases of eruptions and malignant fevers. Their balsamic, healing, and soothing properties protect the humors of the fauces. Their Sedative properties allay pain in the nervous system, stomach, and bowels, from inflammation, wind, colic, cramps, etc.

Their Counter-Irritant influence extends throughout the system. Their Anti-Bilious properties stimulate the liver, in the secretion of bile, and its discharges through the biliary ducts, and are superior to all remedial agents, for the cure of Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, etc.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed. The liver, the stomach, the bowels, the kidneys, and the nerves are rendered disease-proof by this great invigorant.

Directions.—Take of the Bitters on going to bed at night from a half to one and one-half wineglassful. Eat good nourishing food, such as beefsteak, mutton chop, venison, roast beef, and vegetables, and take out-door exercise. They are composed of purely vegetable ingredients, and contain no spirit.

MANHOOD,

How Lost, How Restored!

Just published, a new edition of Dr Culverwell's celebrated essay on the radical cure without medicine of spematorrhea, or seminal weakness, involuntary seminal losses, impotency, physical and mental incapacity, impediments to marriage, etc.; also consumption, epilepsy and fits, induced by self indulgence or sexual extravagance.

☞ Price in a sealed envelope, 6 cents.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer no matter what his conditions may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land

Sent, under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, postpaid, on receipt of six cents or two post stamps.

Also, Dr. Culverwell's Marriage Guide Price 25 cents. Address the publishers.

A team standing near the depot on last Saturday morning, became frightened at a locomotive, and started up Mill street at a lively gait, doing considerable damage to the wagon and harness. No one was injured that we hear of.

The most cheering news from Washington is contained in the monthly report of the secretary of the treasury, which informs public that there has been a decrease in the public debt during the month of February; of $5,377,880.

It is a criminal offence to sell coal oil in this state that will not bear the test of one hundred and ten degrees Fahrenheit, and the offender is liable to a fine of one hundred dollars, and imprisonment in the county jail for 20 days.

A gentleman living in this neighborhood started down cellar the other evening to draw some cider, and stepping on the cat fell down stairs. His wife ran to the door and beseechingly asked if he had hurt the cat The rats are unmolested in that house at present.

The future congressmen have had a sort of credit mobilier affair on the canal for some time past, as regards profits. At an expense of about two dollars for skates, and fifteen dollars or the wear and tear of clothing, they have had a stock dividend of two hundred bumps apiece, and twenty-five thousand dollars worth of fun.

One day last week the workmen at Mong & Crawford's shop discovered a large crane in the river near by. A couple of the men started for their guns, and an ounce or lead soon brought the bird to the end of time. We understand that the fowl was given to Dr. Barrick who intends to preserve and place it among his collection.

By notice elsewhere it will be seen that I. H. Brown, Central Committeeman of this township, informs the republican voters that there will be a meeting at Madison Hall, on Saturday evening, at 7½ o'clock, for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend the county convention to be held at Canton on the 10th inst. Let there be a full attendance.

At the meeting of the Miners Grand Lodge, held at New Portage, on the 20th ult., we notice that our friend Hugh Merriman of this vicinity, was chosen president of the Grand Council of the Tuscarawas, Mahoning and Shenango Valleys. Thomas Murphy was chosen for vice president.

For several days past the weather has been about as cold as at any time during this long and dreary winter. On Monday morning the mercury was in the neighborhood of zero, and about the same on Tuesday morning. There are some hopes that we have about reached the end of extreme cold for this season.

Bro. Rukenbrod of the Salem Republican is announced as a candidate for state senator from the 17th district of Ohio. We are not acquainted with Bro. Bukenbrod except through the columns of his excellent paper, but judging from that we should say that Bro. Jonathan is made of the right stuff for state senator.

Sometime during the present month the stockholders of the Lake Shore & Tuscarawas Valley Railroad meet to vote upon the question of extending the southern terminus of the road; also to authorize the issuing of bonds by the company and the execution of a second mortgage upon its railroad and property to secure the payment thereof.

The occupants of the Mahoning county jail, at Canfield—four in number—have changed their location. On Friday morning last they squeezed out through a hole burnt in the ceiling. One of the number, Patrick McGuire, tried and convicted of horse stealing, has since been recaptured. The balance of this interesting party are looking after the sheriff.

For a year or more past the matter of removing the post office from its present location to a room in the Opera House, has been agitated in our community One day last week, our postmaster, Mr. Brown, received orders from the department at Washington to move his traps to the opera house, and on Saturday, the 15th inst will be found in his new quarters.

By circulars plentifully distributed about town, we learn that Josiah Frantz will be an independent candidate for city marshal at the coming spring election. He asks all his friends to vote for him. Capt. Seaman, our present efficient marshal, is also a candidate for re-election. There may be others who are willing to serve their country in this capacity, but we have not heard of them

On Monday morning last at Malvern a man named Thomas McCauley, a harness-maker, was found dead in his bed. It is supposed that he was a victim of an overdose of morphine. He was just recovering from typhoid fever and was taking morphine for the relief of malarial wretchedness. He leaves several small children to the sad heritage of orphanage, their mother having died last summer of fever.

A MISSING BOY.—John Kragar, of this city, aged sixteen, has been missing from his home since the middle of October last. His grandmother is now very ill and greatly desires to see him before she dies. Any information as to his whereabouts will be gratefully received by his father, Chas. Kragar, Akron, Ohio. Exchanges please copy.—Akron Beacon.

To those who have the leisure and means Cook & Jenkins offer all the facilities for making an educational tour to Europe to visit the Vienna exposition, which is to take place during the coming summer. A large number of noted places will be visited, all which are named in a pamphlet circulated freely for the benefit of those wishing to avail themselves of such an expedition. The time will occupy nine weeks, leaving New York June 28th, and return to the same place August 31st. Price of the entire trip $4.00 in gold. This trip will include Ireland, Scotland, Wales, England, Holland, Belgium, Prussia, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Austria, Bavaria, Spain, France, Turkey, Greece, Egypt, Palestine, Syria, &c.

All who need TAGS can be supplied by applying at this office.

The New York and Western Theatre was greeted at the Opera House last night with a full house, and gave universal satisfaction. The playing of J. W. Carner is said to be inimitable. In the role of Rip Van Winkle it is thought here, by those who have seen both, that he equals Joe Jefferson himself. A request has been tendered Mr. Blakeney, the proprietor, to repeat the play this evening.—Alliance Local.

The literary editor of the Boston Globe says of Prof. Cohn's last theory: Prof. Cohn passes far beyond the Monkey and tells us that we are descended from a "yeast fungus." We don't know what sort of a creature this is, but suppose it is all right It may be a foolish superstition, but, after a careful view of the facts, we, on the whole, prefer God Almighty to the "Yeast-Fungus," Still we would not say a word implying any disrespect to the latter omnipotent personage.

The Christian Sunday school association of this, the 9th, O. C. M. District, will hold a convention at Alliance on the 19th, and 20th insts. The exercises will consist of the reading of reports of the progress and standing of the different schools, speeches, essays, recitations, &c. We notice that Dr. Gerould, superintendent of the Christian Sabbath school of this city, is to take an active part in the proceedings. Also, that Mrs. Gerould is to read an essay entitled, Subbath school teachers in the School and in Society.

Our exchanges are blowing a good deal about a brave little boy who found a broken rail on the railroad track, and perceiving the peril in which the train should be placed if it should come dashing along without warning, sat on the fence for five hours on a bitter cold day. It now turns out that he was the son of the local editor of a paper in the neighboring village, and wanted to carry the news of the accident to his doting father. "Bizness is bizness."

A family named Kruger, of Cleveland, were attacked with trichinæ on Friday. The pork was some of their own raising. The diseased meat, as is generally known, contains small parasites which, when received into the system, begins to multiply until, in most cases, a horrible death ensues. Eating the diseased meat only affects human beings when it is taken raw, as cooking or frying it kills the animalculæ. The family will very likely recover.

Our friend, Horacee C. Brown, who for some year or more has been the gentlemanly, attentive and efficient clerk in the post office, has resigned that position for a place in the First National Bank. In common with the many friends of "Hod" we wish him success in his new field of labor. The position in the postoffice made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Brown has been given to Mr D. P. Merwin. who is a trustworthy young man, and will doubtless fill the place acceptably to the patrons o Uncle Samuel.

Our jolly friend, Crooks, the news man, in his journeyings about town, while delivering papers to his customers, discovered what seemed to be a large roll of carpet lying on the sidewalk which he gathered in his arms and after a severe muscular struggle succeeded in getting to his place of business, where a crowd collected and wondered what the strange object was. One said it was a bale of cotton, another that it was fifty yards of carpet—but when that woman came and claimed her bustle—imagine the rest.

One day last week a row of a rather serious nature happened at the grocery of Wm. Hose, in Kendall. It seems that a young man named Brahm had taken rather too much benzene, and was teasing a small boy who happened to be in the store, and when requested by Hose to desist, became quarrelsome and wanted to fight. He was ordered to leave the place but refused to do so, and struck Hose on the head with a poker felling him to the floor, from the effects of which he has been confined to his room ever since. Brahm was arrrested and brought before Esquire Warner for a hearing, and in default of bail was sent to Baxter's Hotel at Canton.

Ed. A. Lee, Chairman of the Central Committee of Stark county, notifies the Republican voters that they meet at their respective townships, on next Saturday, March 8th, for the purpose of electing delegates to the convention to be held at Canton on the 10th inst, at 2 o'clock P. M., to nominate two members to the Constitutional Convention. Each township to recommend their choice through their delegates. Perry township, including the city of Massillon, is entitled to seven delegates. The Central Committee request that the delegates chosen from the different townships be pledged to attend the county convention.

Our citizens are promised an evening of more than common enjoyment on the 10th inst., as Blakeney's New York and Western Troupe will present the popular serio comic drama of Rip Van Winkle, at the Opera House, on that evening. The following extract is from the Coshocton Age, of the 15th ult., and is but one of many favorable notices we have seen of this popular troupe. Let there be a good turnout.

BLAKENEY'S NEW YORK THEATRE.—This deservedly popular troupe commenced an engagement at Central Hall on last Monday evening On that occasion was presented "Rip Van Winkle," with J. W. Carner as "Rip," whose rendition of this most difficult character should give him rank high up in his profession In fact we will go farther, and say to "not count" Joe Jefferson, Mr. Carner stands unrivalled as "Rip Van Winkle." The other characters were well sustained, by Mrs. T V. Jones as Gretchen, Miss Julie S. Coventry as Meenie, and Mr. Coon as Derrick The audience was one of the largest we have ever seen in Coshocton, and, without an exception, every one present manifested perfect satisfaction. The troupe remains here this week, and will give our citizens more and better real entertainment than any other traveling theatre is capable of doing.

Mr. Underwood's Lecture Thursday evening, notwithstanding the stormy aspect of the weather, was attended by a fair number of our citizens. The large room of the Opera House was not quite as comfortable as it might have been, still most of the audience listened with patient attention to the remarks of the speaker. No formality was observed in introducing the subject for discussion, but the speaker announced that his design was to present his views of rationalism as contrasted with the common religious views of what is regarded as orthodox Christianity. Without attempting to give even an outline of his discourse we may say that he made numerous salient points as he passed along, and as far as we could perceive did not differ from others in his ideas in a truculent and contentious spirit, but manifested a candor and earnestness which seemed to indicate a sincere disposition to find out the truth. A majority present appeared to approve of the theories he promulgated, as to them they seemed like the suggestions of reason, unbiased by education or mystified by theological theories. Quite a number, also, of our sincere and among the most worthy of our orthodox citizens were in the audience, and they listened with respectful attention to what was said. Perhaps all that was uttered was not new to them; and of course they were not convinced of the correctness of the lecturer's views. On Friday evening Mr. Underwood was listened to for more than an hour by a largely increased audience. who heard his statements with undivided attention. His principal effort was to contest the assumed claims so often made that our civilization, mental, moral, scientific and physical improvement, and everything that is good is attributed to the spirit of Christianity. He certainly presented numerous strong points in favor of his position, and a large portion of the audience were evidently in harmony with the views he set forth. But with many this is a mooted question, and while we have decidedd opinions as to its correctness, we feel that others have quite as full liberty to differ therefrom. Mr. U. is a good speaker-- and may be here again not long in the future.

A Disease with a thousand symptoms.

Dyspepsia is the most perplexing of all human ailments. Its symptoms are almost infinite in their variety and forlorn and despondent victims of the disease often fancy themselves the prey, in turn, of every known malady. This is due, in part, to the close sympathy which exists between the brain and in part also to the fact that any disturbance of the digestive function necessarily disorders the liver, the bowels and the nervous system, and affects, to some extent, the quality of the blood. A medicine that, like Hostetter's Bitters, not only tones the stomach, but at the same time controls the liver, produces a regular habit of body, braces the nerves, purifies the fluids and "ministers to a mind diseased," is therefore the true and only specific for chronic indigestion. Such is the operation of this famous vegetable restorative. It not only cures dyspepsia, but also all concomitants and consequences. Moreover, it is invaluable as a preventive of indigestion. No one who chooses to take half a wineglass of this agreeable appetizer and stomachic habitually three times a day will ever be troubled with oppression after eating, nausea, sour eructations, or any other indications of a want of vigor in the digestive and assimilating organs. The debility and languor superinduced by hot weather are immediately and permanently relieved by the Bitters, and persons who are constitutionally inclined to look upon life "as through a glass, darkly," will be apt to take a brighter and more hopeful view of the situation under the genial influence of this wholesome medical stimulant.

THE MEANEST MAN IN NEW YORK.

Some gentlemen were talking about meanness, when one said he knew a man on Lexington avenue who was the meanest man in New York.

"How mean is that?" asked a friend.

"Why, he is so mean that he keeps a five cent piece with a string tied to it to give to beggars; and when their backs are turned he jerks it out of their pockets!"

"Why this man is so mean," continued the gentlemen, "that he gave his children ten cents apiece the night before the Fourth of July, but during the night, when they were asleep, he went up stairs and took the money out of their clothes, and then whipped them for losing it!"

"Does he do anything else?"

"Yes, the other day I dined with him, and I noticed the poor little servant girl whistled all the way up stairs with the desert—and, when I asked the mean old scamp what made her whistle so happily he said. 'Why, I keep her whistling so she can't eat the raisins out of the cake.'"

That hog dressing item of ours last week, is likely to get us into trouble. Already we have four letters from Sodus, the writer of each inquiring if we meant him; and a fifth threatens to come to Lyons and and damage our physical structure unless we retract—for (says he) thow you say that the old feller you are pretended to be a firm at dresses a 200 pound hog every morning and I don't weigh but a hundred and aighty, every body knows who your drivin at and i claim the satisfaction of a jentleman."—Lyons Republican.

There was once an old woman who, in answer to a visiting almoner's inquires as to how she did, said: "Oh, sir, the Lord is very good to me; I've lost my husband and my eldest son, and my youngest daughter, and I'm all blind, and I can't sleep or move for the rheumatics; but I've got two teeth in my head, and, praise and bless his holy name, they're opposite each other!" It has been said that this old woman was thankful for small mercies.

"If you avoided rum," said a wealthy, though not intelligent grocer to his neighbor, "your early habits, industry and intellectual abilities would now have permitted you to ride in your carriage." "And if you had never sold rum for me to buy," replied the bachanal, "you would have been my driver."

A correspondent of the World gives the following as a specimen of street conversation heard by him: Young man (loq.) "An' now's Jamie?" Young woman, "He's lost an oi." Y. M. 'Fot did it?" Y. W. "A bye tuk it out wid a stone." Old man (sitting by, after a decent pause) "Och, thin he has the ass to lose." Isn't that Irish all over?

A gentlemen was surprised, during the late frosty weather, to see his little daughter being home from the Sunday school a grave treatise on "backsliding." "My child," said he, "this is too old for you; you can't make anything of it." "I know it, papa: I thought it would teach me how to slide backward."

KEEP BUSY.—The ruin of most men dates from some vacant hour. Occupation is the armor of the soul. There is a satirical poem in which the devil is represented as fishing for men, and fitting his bait to the taste and business of his prey; but the idler, he said, gave him no trouble, as he bit the naked hook.

Human nature is so constituted, that I see, and judge better, in the affairs of other men than in their own.

Whittlesey, enriches the blood.

There was a man in our town
And he was wondrous wise,
He had a pain from ear to ear,
And another between his eyes;
And when he saw he had catarrh,
With all his might and main
He purchased Sage's remedy
And has his health again.
It is sold by druggists everywhere.

Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer now stands among the first, and at the head of all articles for a similar purpose. The testimony of our physicians is conclusive as to its value; and we are personally acquainted with scores of cases where it has been used, with the best of results. It will restore gray hair to its original color and leaves it glossy and in a healthy condition; while for heads troubled with dandruff, or any disease of the scalp, it acts like a charm in cleansing them. Try it and you will not be disappointed.—Lowell Courier.

Whittlesey, purifies the blood.

Purgative Pills have become a settled necessity with the American people. Indeed, cathartics always have been used, in some form, by all mankind. In this country the pillular form of administration has been growing in favor since pills were first made of aloes and rhubarb, rolled into a ball. Their high position in the public confidence has finally been secured, and fastened into permanency by Ayer's Cathartic Pills; the most skillful combination of medicine for the diseases they are intended to cure, that science can devise or art produce. Those who need pills, no longer hesitate what pills to take if they can get Ayer's Pills.—Wheeling (Va.) Press.

Whittlesey, stimulates the liver to action.

Dr. Keyser's Great Cures.—The importance of treatment in a vast variety of chronic diseases, has been the study of this gentleman for a lifetime covering a period of over forty years of a reputable practice. His practice is now almost incredible with any one except those who are acquainted with his great skill and energy in the treatment of a class of diseases, which, from physicians ordinarily, have received little or no attention. Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure keeps from the system all morbid matter, and that too, without weakening or impairing the general health, or in any way hindering the ordinary duties of life. Its potency is really marvelous to any one but the doctor himself, who examines himself, who examines the lungs with as much accuracy as he could see the bearings of the lungs, 167, Liberty Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

DOCTOR PIERCE'S
ALT. EXT. OF
Golden Medical Discovery

CURES DISEASES OF THE THROAT, LUNGS, LIVER & BLOOD

In the wonderful medicine to which he the afflicted are always pointed for relief, the discoverer believes he has combined in harmony more of Nature's most sovereign curative properties, which God has distilled into the vegetable kingdom for healing the sick, than were ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has established the most loyal fealty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood purifying properties, it cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poison, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all those humorous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful purifying and invigorating medicine.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from "Torpid Liver" or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, and it often effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy. For the cure of Habitual Constipation of the bowels it is a never failing remedy, and those who have used it for this purpose do lead in its praise.

The proprietor offers $1,000 reward for a medicinal error it will not cure, for the cure of all the diseases for which it is recommended.

Sold by druggists at $1 per bottle. Prepared by R. V. Pierce, M. D., Sole Proprietor, at his Chemical Laboratory, 663 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y. Send your address for a pamphlet.

1st.—It will relieve the worst case of Bilious Cholic or Cholera Morbus in 15 minutes.

2d.—It will cure the most obstinate case of Dyspepsia and Indigestion in a few weeks.

3d.—It is the best remedy in the world for Sick Headache, as thousands can testify, if taken on the first symptoms appear.

4th.—It is the best diuretic ever put before the public, curing those distressing complaints, Diabetes and Gravel and other Urinary difficulties.

5th.—It is a most excellent Emmenagogue, and to the Young Girls, middle aged Women, and at the Turn of Life, this remedy is of incalculable value.

6th.—It will remove Bad from the bowels, and hence a few drops in some sweetened water given to a babe is better than a dozen cordials to Relieve and make it Sleep. Containing no anodynes.

7th.—It gives relief for adults and children affected with Worms and Pin Worms. It will bring away the worms.

8th.—It will cure the Piles and Hemorrhoidal difficulties.

9th.—It will cure Constipation and keep the bowels regular. It will also cure the worst case of Summer Complaint and Dysentery.

10th.—It will cure Sour Stomach, Stimulate the Liver to healthy action. Relieve Heart-Burn and act as a general Regulator of the system.

When taken dilute the dose with Sugar and Water or Wine unless full and you have a pleasant tonic.

Ayer's
Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping-Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Among the great discoveries of modern science, few are of more real value to mankind than this effectual remedy for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. A vast trial of its virtues, throughout this and other countries, has shown that it does surely and effectually control them. The testimony of our best citizens, of all classes, establishes the fact, that CHERRY PECTORAL will and does relieve and cure the afflicting disorders of the Throat and Lungs beyond any other medicine. The most dangerous affections of the Pulmonary Organs yield to its power; and cases of Consumption, cured by this preparation, are publicly known, so remarkable as hardly to be believed, were they not proven beyond dispute. As a remedy it is adequate, on which the public may rely for full protection. By curing Coughs, the forerunners of more serious disease, it saves unnumbered lives, and an amount of suffering not to be computed. It challenges trial, and convinces the most sceptical. Every family should keep it on hand as a protection against the early and unperceived attacks of Pulmonary Affections, which are easily met at first, but which become incurable, and too often fatal, if neglected. Tender lungs need this defence; and it is unwise to be without it. As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of childhood, CHERRY PECTORAL is invaluable: for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued from premature graves, and saved to the love and affection centred on them. It acts speedily and surely against ordinary colds, securing sound and health-restoring sleep. No one will suffer troublesome Influenza and painful Bronchitis, when they know how easily they can be cured.

Originally the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical investigation, no cost or toil is spared in making every bottle in the utmost possible perfection. It may be confidently relied upon as possessing all the virtues it has ever exhibited, and capable of producing cures as memorable as the greatest it has ever effected.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit, but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

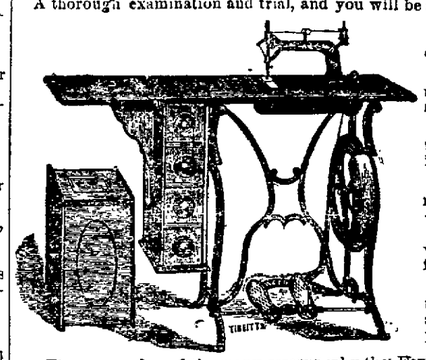
LADIES! DON'T GET IN A HURRY,

When about to purchase a Sewing Machine, but take time to give

THE WEED "FAMILY FAVORITE"

A thorough examination and trial, and you will be convinced of the following facts.



1. That it runs faster than any other Shuttle Machine.

2. That it is the simplest and most convenient machine to operate in the market.

3. That it is the easiest machine to oil and clean, every part being in plain sight.

4. It has no acting spring, every motion being positive.

5. It has a brake on balance wheel to prevent the machine from running backwards.

6. The new shuttle and upper tension, which have recently been added are the simplest and most perfect yet introduced.

These are a few of the many reasons why the Family Favorite is fast becoming the leading machine in the market as

One Hundred and Fifty Thousand

Persons who are using them will testify. These machines are sold on Monthly Payments, on Long Time.

Wishart's Pine Tree

TAR CORDIAL.

Nature's Great Remedy

FOR THE

Throat and Lungs.

It is gratifying to us to inform the public that Dr L Q C Wishart's Pine Tree tar Cordial, for throat and lung diseases, has gained an enviable fame from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and from thence to some of the first families of Europe, not through the press alone, but by persons throughout the states actually benefitted and cured at his office. While he publishes less, so say our reporters, he is unable to supply the demand. It gains and holds its reputation—

First. Not by stopping cough, but by loosening and assisting nature to throw off the unhealthy matter collected about the throat and bronchial tubes, which causes irritation.

Second. It removes the cause of irritation (which produces cough) of the mucous membrane and bronchial tubes, assists the lungs to act and throw off the unhealthy secretions and purifies the blood

Third. It is free from squills, lobelia, ipecac and opium, of which most throat and lung remedies are composed, which allay the cough only, and disorganize the stomach. It has a soothing effect on the stomach, acts on the liver and kidneys, and lymphatic and nervous regions, thus reaching to every part of the system and in its invigorating and purifying effects it has gained a reputation which it holds above all others in the market.

NOTICE.

The Pine Tree Tar Cordial,

Great American Dyspepsia Pills,

And Worm Sugar Drops

Being under my immediate direction, they shall not lose their curative qualities by the use of the cheap and impure articles.

DR. WHITTIER
296 Penn St. Pittsburg, Pa.

A REGULAR GRADUATE OF MEDICINE, AS PER diploma at office will show, has been longer engaged in the treatment of Venereal, Sexual and Private Diseases than any other physician in Pittsburg.

Syphilis, Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Orchitis, Hernia or Rupture; all Urinary Diseases and Syphilitic or Mercurial Affections of the Throat, Skin or Bones are treated with unparalleled success.

Spermatorrhea, Sexual Debility and Impotency, as the result of self abuse in youth, sexual excesses in maturer years, or other causes, and which produce some of the following effects, as nocturnal emissions, blotches, debility, dizziness, dimness of sight, confusion of ideas, evil forebodings, aversion to society of females, loss of memory and sexual power rendering marriage improper, are permanently cured. Sealed pamphlet relating to above sent for two stamps. Call or write, as friendly talk costs nothing. Medicine sent everywhere. It is self evident that a physician who treats thousands of cases each year must be skill. Country physicians knowing this fact, consult professional persons to any case.

MANHOOD! WOMANHOOD!

Who may Marry, who not, why. Send 25 cents. Full symptoms Chronic Diseases, 100 pages sent by mail. Address Dr. Whittier, 296 Penn Street, Pittsburg, Pa. Ignorance kills more than war and pestilence combined.
